Sept 16 - Oct 7

Saturday afternoons, 1-3 PM

Ages 14-18

Tuition:$100

Before an actor can hit the stage in that starring role, they usually play on a smaller stage in the audition room--all by themselves--and the perfect piece for the actor often helps seal the deal. In this four-week course for teen actors, Sage Studio takes a deep dive into one of the most often-requested genres for auditions of all sorts--the monologue. With a focus on making bold choices, character analysis, and learning practical strategies for making the moment come alive onstage - and led by a staff of working theatre professionals--this class will explore pieces from both classical and contemporary literature, and help students build their repertoire with show-stopping new material for all sorts of audition scenarios. This class culminates in a showcase for industry professionals, including representatives from Williams Street Repertory, the in-house professional theatre company at Raue Center for the Arts.

PREREQUISITES: Age limit is 14-18. Students must exhibit an appreciation and aptitude for theatre.

Students are also required to submit a video audition of a monologue from a play or musical. If unable to submit a video, please contact Kate Wilford at kwilford@rauecenter.org to schedule an audition.
